WHEN IS THE BEST TIME TO GO FISHING?

The best times to fish are when the fish are naturally most active. The Sun, Moon, tides, and weather all influence fish activity. For example, fish tend to feed more at sunrise and sunset, and also during a full moon (when tides are higher than average).

Best Fishing Times

- One hour before and one hour after high tides, and one hour before and one hour after low tides. Inland, the times for high tides correspond with the times when the Moon is due south. Low tides are halfway between high tides.
 - During the “morning rise” (after sunup for a spell) and the “evening rise” (just before sundown and the hour or so after).
 - During the rise and set of the Moon.
 - When the barometer is steady or on the rise. (But even during stormy periods, the fish aren’t going to give up feeding. The smart fisherman will find just the right bait.)
 - When there is a hatch of flies—caddis flies or mayflies, commonly. (The fisherman will have to match his fly with the hatching flies or go fishless.)
 - When the breeze is from a westerly quarter rather than from the north or east.
 - When the water is still or slightly rippled, rather than during a wind.
- However, most of us go fishing when we can get the time off, not because it is the best time! But there are best fishing days, according to lore:

BEST FISHING DAYS LEFT IN 2018

Fishing is said to be best during the time between a new moon and a full moon. This is what the Best Fishing Days below are based on.

- October 8–24
- November 7–23
- December 7–22

Some of my most favorite memories are going fishing with my Dad, Grandpa and Uncles. I would get up at 5am just to spend time with these men in my life.

Once while camping with my family, I went fishing one early morning with my Grandpa. I fell asleep and still managed to get a bigger fish than him.

Fishing with someone creates good times, great memories and dinner!
